

LPS at Tec

- Intensive training in the biological bases of behavior
- Problem-based research- and patient-centered learning
- Supervised clinical practice in real-world settings
- 20 hours of clinical practice per week in the last four trimesters
 - Participation in research projects on biopsychosocial phenomena in local and global settings

Study abroad

- Fundación Universitaria Sanitas, Colombia
- Pontificia Universidad Católica de Chile
- Universidad Autónoma de Bucaramanga
 - Universidad CES
- Universidad Complutense de Madrid
 - Universidad de los Andes, Chile
 - Universidad Europea Miguel Cervantes
 - Université Lille 2 Droit et Santé

Strategic partners

- McGill University
- Triada UNIANDES-PUC-TEC
- University of Illinois at Chicago
- Hospital del Niño Jesús, Madrid

Psychology today

- Promotion of mental health and its impact on integral wellness
- Actions to prevent mental illnesses and disorders that affect individual and group behavior
 - Participation in the design and management of biopsychosocial health management in multidisciplinary teams

Specialize

- Practice in public or private healthcare and social security institutions
- Create your own psychology services center
- Implement evaluation, prevention, interconsultation and intervention in mental health and community healthcare programs

Your future

- Private office
- Clinics
- General and specialty hospitals
- Patient associations
- Academic institutions
 - Community
 - Research teams
 - Government health and social security organizations

Did you know that... Doctor Juan Antonio Valdivia, professor of the TecSalud School of Medicine and Health Sciences, was recognized with the 2019 Outstanding Early Career Psychologist Award during the 2019 American Psychological Association Conference (APA) held in Chicago?